Towards a participatory urban development

A greener future for Europe begins right at our doorsteps and demands active citizen participation.

GINNIGER engages communities in implementing sustainable regeneration plans for their neighbourhoods.

To achieve this, we combine an innovative co-creation methodology with digital solutions to ensure all voices are heard while enhancing energy efficiency, implementing green mobility and promoting a sustainable use of resources.

Our approach enables people across Europe to co-create more affordable, sustainable and inclusive neighbourhoods.

We believe that understanding the community's needs is key to addressing them. That's why the initiatives GINGER promotes are tailored to the unique history, culture and socio-economic conditions of each pilot.
